

Tropical Dermatology - Dermatologists working in resource-poor settings

PRE-EADV Hybrid Scientific Symposium organized by

EADV Tropical Dermatology Task Force (TDTF) & GLODERM

The aim of this symposium is to update European dermatologists about the specific challenges of tropical & general dermatology in resource-poor settings. The symposium is organized by the TDTF together with GLODERM (www.gloderm.org), an international organization established to build connections between dermatologists, trainees, and health professionals around the world interested in global health dermatology. The meeting will be in person, face to face and also virtual - HYBRID.

Time: Wednesday 11 October 2023

Location: BERLIN, Hollywood Media Hotel, Kurfürstendamm 202

- 14:00-14:05 Federica Dassoni (Italy) and Andreas Montag (Germany), Introduction
- 14:05-14:25 Subani Pereira (Sri Lanka): Leishmaniasis in Sri Lanka
- 14:25-14:45 Marlous Grijzen (Netherlands): Improving access to skin care in Eastern Indonesia
- 14:45-15:05 Jose Postigo (Spain): WHO skin NTDs program
- 15:05-15:20 Discussion
- 15:20-15:45 Break
- 15:45-16:05 Tenganawo Esther Mzumara (Malawi): Treatment and prevention of skin cancer among people with Albinism in Malawi
- 16:05-16:25 Friederike Kauer (Germany): Investigative dermatopathology
- 16:25-16:45 Workalemahu Alemu (Ethiopia): Unusual presentation of common tropical diseases
- 16:45-17:00 Claire Fuller (UK), Andreas Montag (Germany), Discussion and Closing Remarks

We are looking forward to welcome you in Berlin!

Federica Dassoni, Andreas Montag, Rosemarie Moser (Board of the TDTF)
Esther Freeman, Claire Fuller, Colette van Hees (representing GLODERM)

